

The OW2 open source community announces OW2con'20 Best Project Awards

Three projects from the OW2 code base (Lutece – Knowage – Melodic) are rewarded for being recognized as "best of breed" OW2 projects and for their global contribution to the influence of the community ecosystem.

Paris, November 4, 2020 - OW2, the international community dedicated to develop and to promote an open source code base, announces the winners of OW2con'20 Best Project Awards. The OW2con Best Project Awards recognize OW2 projects for their outstanding contribution to several categories including community, technology, and market performance.

The winners of the OW2con'20 Best Project Awards are:

Technology Award

The 2020 OW2 Best Project Technology Award goes to KNOWAGE, the business analytics platform, that has successfully maintained a strong momentum of constant innovation well reflected in the 7th release. Among the new features, let's notice the ability to combine data from many different sources and scripts from different languages in an open source software that complies to open standards and can be easily embedded in third-party products and OEM solutions.

Community Award

The 2020 OW2 Best Project Community Award goes to LUTECE, the city service platform designed by the City of Paris. In addition to being instrumental in the open source advocacy web site, Lutece differentiates through its external contributions openness, its efforts to develop national and international cooperations with other projects and cities, its intense participation in OW2 OSS in Big Cities and Good Governance initiatives.

Market Award

The 2020 OW2 Best Project Market Award goes to MELODIC, the multi-cloud automation and optimization platform, for successfully executing the transition from collaborative research project to commercial product with full professional support, for having signed a significant number of real-life customers in several countries, and for developing a full-fledged value proposition carefully aligned with market expectations while eliminating vendor lock-in.

All winners will receive their awards in their office. Unlike the previous years, the pandemic situation did not allow this time to organize a physical ceremony.
